

Dear ICPA Members,

The ICPA Board is proud to support our newest sponsor Episencial - professional quality skincare for babies and moms. Episencial's Epicuren Baby skincare products, produced in association with famed photographer Anne Geddes, enhance whole-body immunity and support parent-child bonding.

Episencial is donating a percentage of sales to ICPA to support our research, so be sure to let them know you are an ICPA member! Episencial empowers you with information and education to better serve your clients, as well as expand your business with products that support your work.

Episencial's philosophy and products reflect our shared core values. They, like all of you, seek to empower and advocate for family health, as well as to forge positive and productive relationships that support research and education.

The skin and its surroundings are intricately involved in immunity. The support of skin enhances overall health.

Episencial's organic, vegan, environmentally friendly products are backed by 30 years of experience in professional skincare, as well as a Healthy Parenting Advisory Board, made up of the nations foremost practitioners in the field of pre and postpartum, as well as infant care, including Dr. Jeanne Ohm.

"As a lactation consultant I consider it my duty to alert parents to the hidden risks associated with what we put in and on our bodies and those of babies. I have every confidence in Epicuren Baby products, use them on my grandson, and recommend them because not only are they 100 percent natural and, therefore, toxin-free, but the formulations effectively protect and nurture the skin and its immune functions."
